Sales Tax Ordinance Passed by Council

Action Voted By All Five City Officials

Will Be Effective Sept. 1; Cigarette Tax is Repealed

The council of the city of Harrisburg yesterday passed an ordinance giving the city a one-half per cent sales tax revenue on all items bought within the corporate limits. With the present sales tax two and a half per cent, the total tax will be three cents on the dollar. Action on the ordinance, which is published in today's Daily Register, was unanimous by all five council members. In another action the city's cigarette tax, which was a penny a pack on all cigarettes sold inside the corporate limits, was repealed.

The state legislature, listening to the plea of Illinois cities for financial assistance, at its last session passed legislation which gave cities powers to impose a half-cent sales tax and five per cent utility taxes on consumers without referendum. The legislation provided that cities with cigarette taxes must repeal them before a city sales tax could be enacted.

Tax Effective Sept. 1

Many cities, including Eldorado and Marion in this area, already have passed the sales tax ordinance and yesterday the Harrisburg council got in line, the tax to become effective and the repeal of the cigarette tax to go into effect Sept. 1.

After action was taken on these two ordinances and first reading was given to the annual appropriation and levy ordinance, a group of Harrisburg merchants appeared to inquire into the need of such an ordinance and to ask just why the sales tax was chosen.

Dick Parker explained that at a regular meeting of Harrisburg merchants, the group present was chosen as a committee to learn the necessity for such a tax and report back to the entire body.

Mayor Claud Gibbons then explained the need of a new fire truck, the repair of the city hall front and the need of a complete garbage disposal system for the city as three major reasons for financial aid.

Commissioner Charles R. Hine said the fire trucks are 1938 and 1942 models, that they are weak and lack modern apparatus, that not long ago one stopped dead before it reached a fire.

He said that he estimated the sales tax would bring about $40,000 a year, that elimination of the cigarette tax would save $10,000.

Taxpayers Urged To Bring Notices

County Collector Maynard Cannon reminded the people of Saline county that when they come to his office to pay their taxes to be sure and bring their tax notices.

It is nearly impossible to give the proper credit to the property on which taxes have been paid when it takes so much time to look up the description of each piece of real estate.

Personal property taxes are now due and the second installment of the real estate taxes should be paid before September 1st to avoid penalty.

Taxes that are mailed to the treasurer must include the statements and a return stamped addressed envelope so that the receipted bill can be returned to the taxpayer.

Carrier Mills Passes Half-Cent Sales Tax

Carrier Mills, like Harrisburg, will have a half-cent sales tax in effect Sept. 1.

Action was taken at a meeting of the Carrier Mills board last night.

The Eldorado city council a few weeks ago enacted the sales tax ordinance.

Coast Guard Withholds Commission From Officer Candidate for Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Coast Guard disclosed another "Landy case" today — one in which a commission has been withheld from one of the Coast Guard's officer candidates for security reasons involving his mother.

The man was identified as Apprentice Seaman Norton Pierre Gaston of San Francisco, who was graduated eighth in his class April 1 at the officer candidate school of the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn.

A Coast Guard official said that "in getting his background and security information, there has been a delay in granting his commission."

The Coast Guard refused to give details of security findings except that they concerned Gaston's mother.

In a similar case, the Navy recently denied a commission to Eugene W. Landy, 21-year-old honor graduate of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, on the grounds that his mother once was a Communist. Senators, congressmen and others have interceded on Landy's behalf, and Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas announced on Aug. 6 that he would personally make a "full and impartial" investigation of the Landy case.

Gaston's attorney said that Gaston's mother, Mrs. Jean Grisez of San Francisco, "was never accused of being a Communist" but was accused of having been a member of several organizations on the attorney general's so-called subversives list.

A security screening board already has passed on the Gaston case and referred it to a local security board which is now considering the case here.

Dorrisville School Board Member Hits Conduct of Community Youth

Carl Millis, Dorrisville school board member, appeared before the Harrisburg city council yesterday and deplored the manner in which some of the youth in his area and other parts of town are conducting themselves.

Millis said that children are getting drunk, that he knew the liquor situation in Dorrisville was "worse than ever."

He said that a week ago Friday he saw a grade school boy in such a condition from liquor that two others had to hold him up.

"I'll not be the most popular man in Harrisburg for this, but someone has got to get up and take a stand," Millis said. "There are too many people who want to buzz to each other about what is going on, yet won't do anything about it."

Community Responsibility

"And," he continued, "it's not necessarily the responsibility of the police department. It's the responsibility of the entire council and

Eisenhower to Proclaim New Code of Conduct

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will proclaim a new code of conduct tonight to govern American military men who may become future war prisoners and face Communist tortures.

The President will put the new code into effect by executive order issued at the Denver summer White House. The Defense Department will make public immediately after an 80-page report by top civilian and military men who devised the code.

The code is an outgrowth of the notorious Red brainwashing and torture tactics disclosed in the Korean War. U. S. military men were unprepared for the treatment meted out to them as Communist war prisoners and their reactions ranged from successful resistance to collaboration and forced germ war "confessions."

The new code is expected to lay down the general policy that war prisoners should give captors the silent treatment and that the Geneva conventions on treatment of prisoners do not "require" them to tell more than name, rank, age and serial number.

But there also will be room for exercise of individual judgment by the military services and individuals, it was reported.

The new code will indoctrinate servicemen in the principle that they must be prepared to die for their country and must never surrender "of their own free will."

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson set up a special committee to study the war prisoner problem after the shocking Korean War disclosures and after it became plain that the services were following varying policies on indoctrination and treatment.

Judge Reynolds in Circuit Court Aug. 27

Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna will be in circuit court here August 27 instead of August 26, as date previously set, to set the dockets for the September term of Saline county circuit court. Judge Reynolds asked attorneys to have their cases ready for setting at 9 a. m. Aug. 27.

Convicts End 13-Hour Riot in Nebraska Prison

Rioters Surrender When Guards Ordered To 'Shoot on Sight'

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—More than 200 Nebraska penitentiary convicts ended a 13-hour riot today when armed guards invaded their cell block stronghold with orders to "shoot on sight."

The rioters, who had set fire to nearly half the penitentiary buildings, scurried meekly to their cells in the face of the shotguns.

The riot broke out without warning Tuesday night and lasted about 13 hours. No hostages were taken, but three convicts were injured by their fellow prisoners.

One of the injured men was found today in his cell in the east cell block. He had been badly beaten and his mattress and clothing had been burned. The other two were hit on the head Tuesday night.

Gov. Victor Anderson and other state officials issued the order to put down the riot with shotguns. The governor served notice that "if anyone gets in the way they will have to suffer the consequences."

Anderson, who had set up night-long headquarters at the prison, announced that an inch-by-inch search would be made of the devastated prison yard to make sure no stray prisoners had escaped the roundup.

The guards' invasion of the cell block was preceded by a warning from the governor which was broadcast over the prison loudspeaker system. Warden Joseph Bovey speaking for the governor, served notice that the prisoners would face shotgun shells if they didn't surrender.

Burn Five Buildings

About half of the 458 convicts (inside the penitentiary walls) joined the rebellion. They set fire to five prison buildings, destroying them, and plunged the penitentiary into darkness by cutting off the power.

But they took no hostages, clearing the way for Anderson to use force in breaking the riot.

The governor believed that the rioters were led by some 30 ring leaders. They issued no terms, but prison officials felt sure the rioters were aiming for the release of two men held in the prison's maximum security building.

The rebellion was the nation's second big prison riot in three days and the second at Nebraska penitentiary in less than five months.

Convicts at the Washington state penitentiary rioted Sunday night, but surrendered the next morning. Last March 27 eight Nebraska convicts held two guards and a fellow prisoner hostage in the segregation building for 65 hours until watch-and-wait tactics ordered by Anderson starved them out.

Death Takes M. C. Warren, 86; Rites Thursday 2 p. m.

Marcell Chat Warren, 86, 226 West South, died in the Harrisburg hospital yesterday afternoon after being an invalid since over three years ago when he was struck by an auto and suffered a broken leg.

He was a retired miner having worked as one for 50 years in Williamson, Franklin and Saline counties. The son of George and Sarah Hapton Warren, he was born in Marion.

Surviving are his wife, Eva Ingram Warren; a son, Brooks Warren; two daughters, Hazel Burnett, Oxnard, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Pearson of Harrisburg; five grandchildren, four great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Ida Aubuchon, Memphis, Tenn.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Mary Evelyn Dinert, Round Lake, Ill.; and two stepsons: Glenard Ingram, Peoria, and Troyce Ingram of Fair Haven, Mich.

The body lies in state in the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home where the funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. Roy Reynolds will officiate and burial will be in the Rose Hill cemetery at Marion.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. at the home of David Abell, Byford, Willard and Kenneth Wiley, Bader Butler and Raymond Joyner.

Father, 27, Dies of Polio; Wife and Son Hospitalized

LEWISTON, Me. (AP)—A 27-year-old father died of polio late Tuesday as his wife and son were being treated for the disease in the same hospital.

Joseph Tuttle of West Peru died in Central Maine General Hospital. His three-year-old son, Steven, and 25-year-old wife Constance, were hospitalized with him Monday night.

Tuttle's was the second Maine polio fatality of the year. The mother and son are reported in fair condition.

Actor Admits Former Communist Membership At Congressional Hearing

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor George Hall broke the iron curtain of silence at a congressional hearing today by admitting past Communist Party membership. He named seven members of his theatrical cell.

The actor was the 12th witness to appear before the House Un-American Activities subcommittee, but he was the first to talk freely about Communist affiliations.

The witnesses preceding him during the last two days had refused to answer questions about communism, most of them invoking constitutional privilege.

Hall testified that he joined the party in July or August of 1946 and was a card carrying member until the end of 1947.

He said he attended about 15 meetings of the "Midtown" branch of the Communist Party during that time. He said the only members whose names he remembered were: David Cantor, who was assistant stage manager of the show "Call Me Mister," in which Hall appeared in 1946.

Alan Manson, another actor in "Call Me Mister."

John Randolph, who was a hostile witness before the subcommittee Monday.

Sarah Cunningham, wife of Randolph, who also refused to answer questions on Monday.

George Keane, an actor who has been subpoenaed by the subcommittee.

Betty Winkler, Keane's wife.

Joshua Shelley, an actor who is scheduled to testify later today.

Hall said the annual registration while he was a party member was held in the apartment of Mrs. Irma Jurist, a theatrical composer who invoked the Fifth Amendment when questioned about her alleged party activities by the subcommittee Tuesday.

No Democratic Program at Illinois Fair

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Democrats today practiced the usual austerity program of the "outs" in non-election years and presented no special program on "Democratic Day" at the Illinois State Fair.

Thursday the Republican Party will have a speaking program at the grandstand starting at 11 a. m. Gov. William G. Stratton, U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and other elected state officers will speak or be introduced to the crowd.

There have been hints from Republican sources that one or more state officials might announce for re-election at the Republican Day festivities.

Most state government workers will be given Thursday off to attend the administration's program and day at the fair.

Such week-long events as livestock judging and the high school band contest kept going at full speed today. Thursday will mark the windup of most livestock judging, with the "million-dollar" parade of prize-winning livestock at the grandstand Friday.

An estimated 85,000 persons attended the fair Tuesday, "Springfield Day." Total attendance for the first five days of the fair was estimated at 565,000.

Crowds Line Streets for Circus Parade

First circus parade to wind around the Harrisburg square in years and years came to town today to foot things up for the circus performances at the fairgrounds this afternoon and tonight.

It is the combined King Brothers and Cole Brothers Circus, brought here by the Egyptian Shrine club. Tonight's performance will start at eight o'clock, with the main gates opening at seven.

A clown on donkeys followed, and then there were baboons, two white horses, monkeys and a wagon-load of the circus performers.

Next came Mexicans on horses, monkeys and camels, and performers riding horses. Then there were a polar bear and hippopotamus in a tank wagon, followed by five elephants and the familiar calliope.

One big wagon, carrying two hyenas, two lions and a leopard, with another circus band atop, had difficulties and turned back after getting to North Main and Walnut.

4 Killed When Auto Crushed Between Trucks

RANTOUL, Ill. (AP)—Four persons were killed and their bodies mangled as the car in which they were riding was crushed between two semi-trailers Tuesday night near here.

One body was still unidentified early today. The others killed were Mrs. Elsie Roach, 54, Bernard Hansbrough, 32, and John Johnson, 45, all of Paxton. The body still to be identified was that of a middle-aged woman.

Identification of the bodies was possible only through effects carried on their persons and physical marks and injuries on the bodies.

Deputy Coroner Charles Wikoff said the car, owned by Johnson, had apparently driven by Hansbrough, was northbound on a curve about 1 1/2 miles north of here on U. S. 45 when the accident occurred.

Wikoff said Bruce Golliday, 27, Benton Harbor, Mich., driving a truck loaded with peaches, was trying to pass another southbound truck carrying beer. The beer truck was driven by Leamon Brown, 41, West Memphis, Ark., and was coming from Milwaukee.

Wikoff said the peach truck and car collided, the truck shearing off the top of the car. Then the car was pushed into the side of the beer truck. Three persons died instantly, the fourth shortly after arrival at Chanute Air Force Base Hospital.

State police held Golliday overnight and Wikoff said a charge of reckless homicide would be filed against the truck driver.

Wife Hints at Reconciliation; Airman Says No

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Una Schmidt, who remarried while her airman husband was a prisoner in Communist China, hinted today at a reconciliation, but Daniel Schmidt said "no."

Una, who said she married logger Alford Fine in September, 1954, in the belief Schmidt was dead, was located publicly for the first time since Saturday through a call she placed to Schmidt's mother, Mrs. Nellie Peters, Portland, Ore.

The call came from San Jose, Calif. Mrs. Peters relayed Una's call about noon to Schmidt, who is in seclusion here.

Una's attorney, Harold Berliner, confirmed a rumor that Mrs. Schmidt and Fine were not living together. He refused to comment on a report that Una may seek a reconciliation.

Jet Ace Receives DSC, Silver Star

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Air Force presented jet ace Capt. Harold Fischer, released three months ago from Communist Chinese prison, with the Distinguished Service Cross and the Silver Star Tuesday for shooting down two Russian-built jet fighters at 8-1 odds.

Fischer was decorated in ceremonies at Maxwell Air Force Base along with two other fliers who also were released from China last May after being imprisoned for "spying."

Fischer also has won his third and fourth oak leaf clusters to the Air Medal. The DSC is the nation's second highest award and the Silver Star is the third highest.

First Lt. Lyle Cameron of Lincoln, Neb., and Roland Parks of Omaha, Neb., were given Air Medals.

DIES IN LEAP—New York singer Warren Hayes plunges to his death during hotel fire in Rio de Janeiro. Hayes, 22, appearing in summer stock productions and night clubs, died when he missed an aerial ladder raised by firemen and fell ten stories to the street. At least six other residents of the hotel died in the fire. (NEA Telephoto)

Nullify Korean Armistice, Envoy Proposes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang called on the United States today to declare the Korean armistice "null and void" and to build free Korea's military strength to meet a "sneak attack" by the Communists.

In an exclusive United Press interview, Yang described the Polish and Czech members of the United Nations Truce Supervisory Commission as "thieves in our parlor."

The Reds, he said, must be ousted from South Korea — "the sooner the better, by force if necessary."

Yang said one-sided observance of the 1953 Korean armistice with the Communists had left the Republic of Korea weak and had strengthened North Korea. The Red strategy, he said, is to "attack again when they have the free world relaxed and slumbering in sweet dreams of peace."

Yang traced his recent talks on the Korean crisis with high State Department officials.

Yang said that Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson "holly agrees with our Korean position and states that the United States is just as much interested as we are in getting the Communists out. But he said that if we will be patient they will find a solution soon — he doesn't say how soon."

Asked what Robertson favors as a "solution," Yang replied that "The solution would be the eventual dissolution of the commission."

He said Sweden and Switzerland, the other truce commission members, had proposed a sharp reduction in the commission's overall personnel.

Yang recommended that the armistice be declared "null and void" since the Communists have violated all treaty terms. "If the present situation is allowed to continue," he said, "they will murder us."

Yang also recommended that the United States "build us up to a military position comparable to that of the Communists." He said the present ground force level has 20 divisions in South Korea and 40 divisions in North Korea. He said any move to pull additional U. S. forces out of Korea would cause "the masses of Asians to lose confidence in the United States."

"Very Undiplomatic" Terms

Yang took time out from his diplomatic duties to talk for almost an hour in his embassy office with a reporter. Roundly denouncing the armistice and the Communists, the diplomat acknowledged that the situation caused him to talk at times in "very undiplomatic" terms.

But how, he asked, "could anybody in their right mind think that Poles and Czechs could serve anywhere as neutrals?" In his native land, he said the Communists serving on the truce commission "go everywhere by jeep and helicopter anytime." Recently, he said the Reds went to Chinnai Naval Base "where they had no right to be."

But the story is different in North Korea where the commission is not permitted to check on arms violations, he said.

Donald Nolen, Carrier Mills man who escaped from Menard penitentiary several days ago, gave himself up to authorities at Collinsville yesterday, it was learned today.

Saluted by Booming Guns In Ceremony

New Commander Replaces Admiral Carney

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Adm. Arleigh A. Burke took command of America's mighty fleets today and warned that U. S. sea supremacy faces a "greater challenge" than ever before in this atomic age.

As the new chief of naval operations, the 53-year-old admiral promised to push for "even higher preparations" to keep the Navy the world's best.

The oath-taking ceremony at which Burke formally took over from Adm. Robert B. Carney, 60, was held in the Naval Academy's mammoth drill hall before more than 2,000 spectators including two squadrons of midshipmen and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland.

It was the most colorful in modern naval annals. Booming guns from a nearby battery, 1,163 smartly dressed midshipmen and a 37-piece academy band saluted the new Navy chief.

It was the first time a chief of naval operations had been inducted outside of a Washington office since the post was created in 1915.

This was Burke's personal wish. The admiral, promoted over 90 officers who had greater service seniority, sought to emphasize the close connection between his Pentagon post and the Navy's seagoing fighting men. His original plan to hold the ceremony aboard an aircraft carrier at Norfolk, Va., had to be cancelled because of the threat of hurricane Diane.

Rain clouds scudding ahead of the hurricane also broke up plans to hold the ceremony outdoors on the Naval Academy's Teumseh Court, and it was moved inside to the drill hall.

The weather was hot and humid and four of the midshipmen standing in their rigid formations collapsed during the hour-long ceremony. All of the midshipmen were members of the new plebe class which will graduate in 1959.

Booming out 72 times, a naval battery delivered a 17-gun salute each to Burke and Carney and two 19-gun salutes to mark the arrival and departure of Navy Secretary Charles A. Thomas.

Second Youngest Naval Chief

Carney, Thomas and Burke in brief speeches exhorted the new plebe class to be loyal to Navy traditions.

President Eisenhower named Burke to succeed Carney last May 25. Burke is the second youngest naval officer to hold the post of chief of naval operations. The late Adm. Forrest P. Sherman was a few months younger when he was sworn into the office.

It was while assistant chief of naval operations that Burke headed "Operation 23," the organization that prepared and carried out the Navy attack on the B36 bomber program. The Navy men did not prevent Air Force strategic bombing plans from becoming a national policy known as "Massive Retaliation," but they turned attention to the Navy and today are building the supercarriers they should have.

Carney, 60, stepped down after serving two years on Mr. Eisenhower's Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Charge Former Sheriff Candidate With Bank Robbery

SELMER, Tenn. (AP)—A respectable building contractor, whose money — "always slipped through his fingers," was in jail today on charges of robbing his hometown bank of $46,000 shortly after losing his campaign for sheriff.

FBI agents arrested Dual King, 43, here while he was on a fishing vacation with his family and charged him with being the masked bandit who last Wednesday robbed the Ackerman, Miss., bank.

C. E. Piper, FBI agent who announced King's arrest from Memphis, said "some money" was recovered but would not disclose whether it was part of the Ackerman bank loot.

King, who ran sixth in a nine-way race for sheriff in Choctaw County, Miss., earlier this month, maintained his innocence and fellow townspeople expressed surprise over the charges against him. His wife said she did not believe her husband robbed the bank.

LOST 45 LBS. WITH RENNEL RECIPE

DECATUR, Ill. "I want to tell you how much good Rennel Concentrate has done for me. I am 66 years of age and when I began using the Rennel home recipe, I weighed 195 lbs. and now weigh 150 lbs. I did not have to starve to reduce while taking Rennel. My Dr. said I had to reduce as I had high blood pressure. I am no longer bothered with bloating and pains I had before reducing with Rennel. I feel so good now and tell all my friends about Rennel." So writes Mrs. M. Peck of 1354 E. Whitmer St.

Screen Guild Returns to Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Members of the Screen Actors Guild returned to work today on television entertainment films, including some of TV's top shows. The SAG voted Tuesday night to end its nationwide strike against producers of such shows.

SAG members in Hollywood voted 735-307 to accept a new contract negotiated between the guild and two groups representing producers, the Association of Motion Picture Producers and the Alliance of Television Film Producers.

The new contract, which runs from last July '21 to March 31, 1960, provides for increases in minimum rates, residual payments on the second to sixth runs inclusive and other changes in conditions.

Ordinance No. 616
MUNICIPAL RETAILERS' OCCUPATION TAX
BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Harrisburg, Illinois, that:

Section 1. A tax is hereby imposed upon all persons engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail in this city at the rate of one-half of one percent of the gross receipts from such sales made in the course of such business while this ordinance is in effect, in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 23-111 of the Revised Cities and Villages Act.

Section 2. Every such person engaged in such business in this city shall file on or before the fifteenth day of each calendar month, the report to the State Department of Revenue required by Section Three of "An Act in Relation to a Tax upon Persons Engaged in the Business of Selling Tangible Personal Property" approved June 28, 1933, as amended, and shall file a duplicate of such report with the city clerk.

Section 3. At the time such report is filed, there shall be paid to the State Department of Revenue the amount of tax hereby imposed on account of the receipts from sales of tangible personal property during the preceding month.

Section 4. The city clerk is hereby directed to transmit to the State Department of Revenue a certified copy of this ordinance not later than five (5) days after the effective date of this ordinance.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be published within ten (10) days of its enactment in the manner provided in Section 10-3 of the Revised Cities and Villages Act.

The city has immediate need for the revenue to be produced by the tax imposed by this ordinance in order to meet the cost of providing services necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and this ordinance is passed as an urgent measure.

This ordinance shall take effect on the first day of the month next following its passage.

PASSED This 16th day of August, 1955.

APPROVED:
CLAUD GIBBONS
Mayor.

ATTEST:
OLIVE PATTERSON
City Clerk.

Record Number Women Employed

WASHINGTON (AP)—More women held jobs last month than in another month in the nation's history.

A Census Bureau survey showed today that 20,204,000 women over 14 years of age were employed.

last month. That was an increase of more than 300,000 over June and almost 1,500,000 above July 1954.

The number of employed represented nearly 31 per cent of the record total of 64,995,000 workers in July.

Herrin Youth Seeks Correspondents To Expand Illinois Pen Pal Club

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—At 15, Lindell Coriasco, of Herrin, is a full-fledged corporation president. And like a lot of executives, he is interested in expanding.

President Coriasco heads the Illinois Association of Pen Pals Inc., chartered as a non-profit corporation to "promote better understanding between the youth of this country and the youth of other countries."

Right now the corporation's big problem is a shortage of correspondents in this country.

"We've got about 70 members now," young Coriasco said, "and we'd like to have a lot more."

We've got about 1,500 foreign names on our lists, and we can get at least 4,000. We've got ads in papers all over the world," he said.

Language Is Barrier

Lindell himself corresponds with 32 foreign youths in Haiti, the Philippines, Africa, Iceland, Canada and other countries.

Language is not a barrier, Lindell said, because "boys and girls in most foreign countries seem to be able to write English."

"When they can't write English, like a boy I wrote to in Iceland, they send their letters to their embassy here where they are translated and sent on to me," he said.

"Then I send my answer to our embassy and they translate it and send it on," he said.

The corporation got started, Lindell said, after he and another youth "had so much fun writing to some pen pals that we thought it would be a good idea to get other kids in on it."

Lindell said he believed American pen pals of foreign youths

"can do as much good as an ambassador, maybe more."

Postage, Paper Supplied

There is no problem in paying for postage, he said. The Methodist Men's Assn. of Herrin has agreed to supply stationery and postage for any corporation member who might have trouble providing them himself.

"I think any boy or girl should find it interesting to write to foreign pen pals," Lindell said. "You learn a lot. They talk about schools and shows and their girl friends. You find a lot of differences, but a lot of things are just like here, too."

"Our address," he said in a last thought plug, "is Illinois Association of Pen Pals, P. O. Box 35, Herrin."

Baker Reunion Held At Mt. Moriah Church

The Baker reunion was held Sunday at Mt. Moriah church with 65 friends and relatives attending. A bountiful dinner was served at the noon hour with prayer being offered by Rev. Irvin Braden.

The afternoon session, presided over by the president, Mrs. Ted Sisk, opened with the song "America" and with prayer by John C. Small. Mrs. Clifford Knight and daughters, Joey and Jo Ella, sang "Glad Reunion Day" followed by "This Heart of Mine" by the Knight quintet. Jo Ella sang a solo after which Rev. Braden spoke of the "reunion for which we are all striving."

A more humorous and lighter vein prevailed during the election of new officers. Mrs. Sisk declined to serve a second term and John C. Small was elected to succeed her as president with Ward Baker as vice president. Because the treasurer, Grover Abney, had lost only a nickel of last year's fund, he was reinstated for another year, as was Mrs. R. C. Penfold, secretary. Grover Abney was also re-elected to serve on the cemetery board.

Mrs. Sisk reported an increase by four to the family by births the past year and the death of one infant.

From the nine branches of the Baker family there were representatives of all but Charley Baker. The Henry Baker descendants had the largest representation with Lewis Baker, second and Margaret Small, third. Mr. and Mrs. William Hutchinson of La Mesa, N. M., who had come the longest distance, represented the John Baker family. Oral Johnson was the only one present from the Elizabeth Johnson family and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Baker represented the Peter Baker family. Eva Jacobs of Marion was the only one from Fred Baker's group and Charles Rey-nolds and family were of the Jacob Baker branch of the family.

Those who attended who were not previously mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. Dee Small of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Ryan L. Waltham, Mrs. Bertha Ryan and Mrs. Leo Waltham, all of Galatia, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Weaver and children, Brenda and Rickey of Effingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson of Knoxville, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Foster of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster of Anna, J. L. Baker, Mabel Bramlet, Eleanor Etherton of Benton, Mrs. John C. Small, Mary Margaret Small and Joe Small, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker, Mrs. Edith Sheeley of Harrisburg, Mrs. Ed Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abney of Harrisburg, Clifford Knight, Ted Sisk of Equality, Mrs. Mary Weaver, Hareo, Ivan Stone and son, Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Stricklin, L. E. Stricklin and Mrs. Clyde Stricklin of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Bond, Jacob Baker of Lawrenceville, Mrs. Irvin Braden and daughter, Eveleen of Galatia, Mrs. Ward Baker, Mrs. Paul Showalter of Harrisburg.

Mrs. Grant Riegel's name was unintentionally omitted last week from the list of those on the program committee for the Riegel reunion which will be held Sunday at Mt. Moriah church.

The Galatia Home Bureau August picnic was held at Karel park last Tuesday evening. Since several of the members were also members of the Baptist church group that was also picnicking at the shelter that evening the two groups ate together and enjoyed a wider friendship. The church pastor, Rev. Merle McDonough, asked the blessing at the beginning of the meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Patterson of Kankakee spent the week end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patterson and sister, Opal, and the K. E. Patterson family. They were called home because of the illness of Walter Patterson who has been in Lightner hospital since Tuesday.

Friday dinner guests at the John C. Small home were Mr. and Mrs. William Hutchinson of La Mesa, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson of Knoxville and Miss Eleanor Etherton of Benton.

Mt. Moriah revival will begin August 29 with Rev. Tommy Harper preaching.

Sales Tax Ordinance Passed by Council

arette tax of $8,000 or $9,000 a year would cut the amount considerably. He said that in addition to proposals mentioned by the mayor, that it was proposed to oil and chip as many streets as possible in the city. Mayor Gibbons said he did not believe the new tax would bring in $40,000 a year.

Finance commissioner Don Williams said that under the present setup, without a sales tax, the council would operate under a deficit of $5,000 to $6,000 a year without buying any new equipment.

L. N. Davenport asked if all other forms of taxation had been explored and the utility tax was brought up. Davenport said the city was putting the burden on people who couldn't pay it.

Suggests Bond Issues

"I believe the city needs money but that the sales tax is unfair and unjust," he said. He said he believed the utility tax would be fairer and then suggested bond issues to take care of some of the projects.

Mayor Gibbons said that several weeks ago he attended a meeting of 52 mayors at Herrin, at which the city sales tax was the chief topic. He said that only two mayors present opposed the tax and that he was one of them.

"We hung on as long as we could before bringing it up," he said. In another action yesterday the council discussed the garbage problem.

A state official was present in regard to setting up a system and said that Marion now is paying a man $300 a month to pick up from residences twice a week. Metropolis, he said, pays a man $600 a month to pick up garbage, cans, tree limbs and all other forms of refuse.

Open for Bids

The council said it was open for bids from men in this area who are or would be licensed to cook the garbage before it is fed to swine.

It was reported that there are two men in the area who are now licensed to collect and cook garbage and that they are picking it up from restaurants in the city.

The council also confirmed an appointment of Mayor Gibbons to the Water and Sewer Board. Mayor Gibbons appointed Cecil Wren to the post held by John R. Jackson, whose term expired Aug. 1.

The council also accepted the final report of the late Police Magistrate Charles McKenzie, which gave the city $34.50 as its share of receipts, and of Justice of the Peace Vern Joyner, who has been acting police magistrate, which gave the city $593.80 during July.

Wins Insurance Sales Contest

B. G. Williams, Harrisburg, representative of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company, is a winner in a special nationwide sales contest recently concluded by the company, it has been announced by Cecil F. Cross, vice president and director of agencies.

Each year the company makes a month-long drive in honor of its president. In recognition of his achievement, Mr. Williams will receive a personal memento from Walter O. Menge, company president.

LYLE LEE SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD—Lyle Lee, 28, of Galatia, water ski instructor on Lake of the Ozarks at Kirkwood Lodge, Osage Beach, Mo., is shown on Aug. 12 after having set a new world's record. He skied, without stopping, 400 miles—15 hours and 35 minutes. Lee set a previous record of 245 miles (12 hours, five minutes) along with Jim Upton, July 4, 1953, on the Ohio river. In June of 1955, John Coll and George Joseph, of Memphis, skied 315.1 miles from Grand Tower, Ill., to Memphis. A third man, Jim Roaten, collapsed at 292 miles. Lee's ski course was from Bagnell dam to the Grand Glaize Bridge, 40 miles round trip on the Lake of the Ozarks. He was towed by two boats, alternating, as he circled at the point of take-off, which was the location of the Water Ski Thrill show and which furnished boats, motors and pilots.

We wouldn't want to dispel that image of the "new, mature, lovable Ted Williams," but relations between the Splinter and Boston newsmen have never been worse. The pre-game show at Fenway Park is on the steps of the Red Sox dugout, where Master Theodore delivers a daily oration on the pathetic species of sports writers in general and those from Boston, in particular.

Williams urged that newspapermen be barred from the field (already they can't enter the clubhouse before a game). They, in turn, tell him to visit a psychiatrist.

In Brooklyn, Don Newcombe is doing his best to make himself just as obnoxious. He not only refuses to pose for live service photographers but drove one of them off with a stream of obscenity. There's only one difference between the lackadaisical Newcombe of last year and the phenom of '55, confides a former coach of the Dodgers—the big guy finally got in shape to pitch.

The pennant chances of one of the contending American League clubs depends on how long a key performer can stay sober. He's ruined at least one pennant chase with past escapades.

Bob Nieman, the erstwhile journalism student turned straight (he's an outfielder), wrote for a Detroit newspaper when he was with the Tigers. His pen has run dry with the White Sox. "They don't want to clamor for 255 hitters to write columns in Chicago," winks Bob, who'll enter the scrap iron business this winter.

Don't ignore those George Kell-to-manage-the-Orioles-next-year rumors. They said he couldn't move off a dime when he came to the Sox, and he still can't, but he's still quite a guy to have on your side.

Paul Damski, pre-Hitler Germany's big boxing promoter who gave Max Schmeling his start, didn't quit on Der Mox when he was clobbered in a preliminary. While Paul fled to the United States, dabbled with boxers for a number of years, finally retired to the jewelry business, Schmeling rose to the championship. The war made them enemies, but during his visit last year Max sought out Damski in the jewelry mart and entreated him to be friends again. He held up a picture of Ann O'Dra, his wife, and said, "You made me 16 matches, Paul, but this is the best match you ever made." It was Damski who introduced the beautiful Czech actress to Schmeling.

Ed Pope, writing a book on coaches, comes up with this one on Bernie Bierman, newly elected to football's Hall of Fame. The Silent Sphinx of the North got emotional only once in his 40 years of coaching—in 1929, with his Tulane club trailing Georgia at half time.

An assistant coach took the floor and worked himself into an emotional spasm, concluded by stomping his hat on the floor and screaming: "Georgia! I can lick the whole state of Georgia by myself!" Bierman jumped aboard the hat and shouted "Me, too!"

Report Caroline Has $15,000 Toronto Offer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—P—The Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League reportedly have offered Illinois halfback J. C. Caroline $15,000 to play professional football this fall, it was learned Tuesday.

Caroline, who was ruled ineligible for collegiate competition Monday for failing a psychology course in summer school, was to meet an Argonaut scout here Thursday.

It was uncertain, however, whether Caroline would be able to play due to his draft status. The surgeon general's office was expected to rule within 60 or 90 days whether he passed an Army induction center physical examination last month.

Caroline said he believed he would be 4-F due to a shoulder injury suffered last football season and that physicians at the induction center hinted he did not pass the physical exam.

70-Day Waterfowl Hunting Season

SPRINGFIELD—P—A 70-day waterfowl hunting season, Oct. 15 to Dec. 23, will be given to Illinois and other Mississippi Flyway hunters this year.

State Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer said the hunting season, 15 days longer than the previous, announced 55 day season, resulted from U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service regulations released Monday.

The opening date will be seven days earlier than the 1954 season and the closing eight days later. Bag limits will remain the same, with a daily limit of four ducks, except that one wood duck will be allowed daily. Hunting hours again will be 12 hours before sunrise to 12 hours before sunset for the Mississippi Flyway, including Illinois waters.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Southwestern Missouri State college at Cape Girardeau, Mo., will open its 1955 football season Monday, Aug. 29, with two workouts per day the first week and then settle down to one practice session each day after school registration, Sept. 7.

Cape's coach, Kenny Knox, has extended invitations to 70 grid candidates, including 17 lettermen. Included in the returning group of letter winners are John Nicholas, center from Anna.

In addition to regular practice sessions, Cape's players and coaching staff will stage a "Spectators Clinic" on Monday, Sept. 5, at 8 p. m. This clinic is in response to many requests, it is said.

Saw the Cincinnati-Cardinal baseball game Sunday and believe it or not, the nearest thing to an argument came on a play on which there was no disagreement—technically speaking.

Temple, Cincinnati second baseman, was at bat with a three ball, no strike count. When the next pitch was delivered, Temple tossed his bat toward the dugout and started to first, but the umpire called the pitch a strike and Temple came back to the plate.

On the next pitch, again before the umpire had made the call, Temple again tossed his bat and started to first. This time the umpire called it ball four. There was no disagreement as to the pitch being outside the strike zone. BUT an argument—the only one of the game—started.

As Umpire Barlick lectured Temple, Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbe and Coach Dick Bartell hustled on to get in their two cents' worth. For a minute it looked like something big might develop, but after a little jawing back and forth everything was settled. And it all started over a pitch that everyone agreed was a ball.

Apparently Barlick didn't appreciate Temple anticipating the call and told him to wait until the official decision was made.

Incidentally, believe Al Barlick is one of the most popular umpires in the business with the fans. He makes the ball and strike decisions in a loud voice and with plenty of motion. No question about the call, even for the fans far off in the bleachers.

Scott Frost Wins State Fair Feature In Straight Heats

SPRINGFIELD—P—Hambletonian winner Scott Frost and B'Haven were the stars of Tuesday's harness race program while an $11,000 trot topped today's Illinois State Fair card.

Tuesday, both Scott Frost and B'Haven won featured races in straight heats. B'Haven, owned by Miss Sally Jane Long, Morrison, and driven by Wilbur Long, in the first running of the Illinois Colt Stake, aged pacers division, grabbed $4,500 of the $10,900 purse with two heats in the rapid time of 1:59.3-5.

Scott Frost, owned by S. A. Camp Farms, Shafter, Calif., and driven by Joe O'Brien, won the 59th renewal of the Illinois State Fair Review Futurity trot with times of 2:03.2-5 and 2:01.3-5. Scott Frost got about $7,900 of the $17,600 purse. Gallophe was second in both heats.

Sea Eagle, owned by Saunders Mills Stable, Toledo, Ohio, won the runoff third heat from Hatched Proof by a head to take the winner's share of the $15,202 Review Futurity 3-year-old pace.

Other winners Tuesday included Lusty Mc Kinney and Adios Dream.

Walker's Defeats Ronnie's, 10-9, In Kiwanis Tilt

By David Nelson
Walker's Cleaners edged Ronnie's Studio, 10-9, in the only Kiwanis league baseball game played Tuesday. Walker's rallied with three runs in the top of the seventh to win a game previously won by Ronnie's, 7-6, in four innings, but which was protested.

Henshaw and Hatcher combined on the mound for the winners, giving up nine runs on eight hits and eight bases on balls, while striking out nine.

Hefner and Cummins pitched for Ronnie's, allowing 10 runs on 11 hits and 10 bases on balls, as they struck out 10 batters.

For Walker's at the plate, Miller tripled and doubled, Tom Gold on tripled and singled, Wallace and Vick singled twice and Weatherly, Whiteside and Henshaw hit safely once.

For the losers at bat Hassett tripled and singled, Cummins and Spurlock tripled and Hefner, Bishop, Owen and Foster singled once each.

Thursday's Games
3 p. m. — Jukes vs. All-Stars, town park; James vs. All-Stars (Gee manager), Taylor Field.
5 p. m. — DX vs. All-Stars, town park; Ronnie's vs. Walker's, Taylor Field.

There will be a meeting of Ronnie's manager, Walker's manager and the league supervisors at 201 East Dayton tonight at 7 o'clock.

Yankees Trip Red Sox, 13-6, To Lead by One and Half Games; White Sox Win, 5-4

By United Press

The nightmare was almost over for the suddenly-awakened Yankees today as they began putting themselves and all other contenders for the first time in three weeks.

The one calamity Yankee officials dread most is losing the pennant two years in a row. Last time it happened was 10 years ago.

But the Bronx Bombers, taking steps to see it doesn't happen again this year, moved 1½ games ahead of the field by beating the Red Sox, 13-6, Tuesday night. Not since July 26 have the Yankees led by that much of a margin and during a good part of that stretch they were bouncing around in second and third place.

Showing no mercy to the Red Sox, the Yankees blasted out 18 hits, including four homers and three doubles, in rolling to their seventh straight victory. Mickey Mantle, Don Larsen, Bill Skowron and Hank Bauer each homered to offset homers by Dick Brown, Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen.

Larsen Wins Fifth
The Yankees clinched Tuesday night's victory with a seven-run burst in the third. Although he failed to go the route for the first time in four games since being recalled from the minors, Larsen was credited with his fifth triumph. Tom Morgan relieved him in the eighth and held Boston at bay.

The White Sox climbed into second place by defeating the Athletics, 5-4, in 11 innings while the Tigers blanked the Indians, 7-0.

After Kansas City scored a run in the top of the 11th to break a 3-all tie, Chicago tied the bases in the bottom of the frame and tied the score on Jim Busby's sacrifice fly. An intentional walk to Walt Dropp filled the bases again and Bob Kennedy then singled for the victory.

Southpaw Billy Hoelt limited Cleveland to two hits in posting his 12th victory. Hoelt faced only 29 batters, yielding only one walk and singles to Bobby Avila and Larry Doby. The Tigers meanwhile clubbed Early Wynn, Sal Maglie, Don Mossi and Jose Santo for 13 hits. Frank House and Bill Tuttle each homered, driving in a total of seven runs between them.

A two-run homer by Cal Abrams helped the last-place Orioles snap a five-game winning streak with a 7-2 decision over the Senators. Erv Fallica was the winning pitcher although he needed help from George Zuverink in the eighth inning.

Giants Beat Dodgers
Willie Mays' 37th homer with one on proved the margin of victory as the Giants beat the Dodgers, 3-3, Right-hander, Ruben Gomez went the route for his eighth victory, giving up all of Brooklyn's runs in the sixth when Roy Campanella unloaded a three-run homer. Until then, the Giants led by five runs. Despite the loss, charged to southpaw Johnny Podres, the Dodgers remained 15 games in front when St. Louis nipped second-place Milwaukee, 3-2.

The Cards won the game in the eighth when Bill Sarni tripled off Ernie Johnson with a man on first base. Stan Musial's 26th homer with one on in the first inning off Chet Nichols gave St. Louis its first win.

Cincinnati moved into fifth place by beating Chicago, 11-2, as Joe Black pitched his first complete game in the National League since Sept. 21, 1952. Smoky Burgess' 17th homer with one on put the Redlegs in front in the first inning and they turned the game into a rout with six more runs in the second inning and three more in the third.

The Phillies defeated the Pirates 12-3, as Herm Wehmeier hurled a seven hitter and made his lifetime record over Pittsburgh 23-7. Del Ennis drove in five runs.

Dodgers Warn Team Might Leave Brooklyn

BROOKLYN—P—The Brooklyn Dodgers, stung by the stay-at-home tactics of fans once considered the most fanatic in baseball, took the first step out of Brooklyn today.

By arranging to play seven of their home games next season in Jersey City, N. J., and announcing they hope to vacate Ebbets Field after the 1957 season, the Dodgers issued a pretty plain warning that poor attendance could make them leave town permanently.

It's the first time in modern baseball history that a major-league team has "farmed out" any of its home games.

And it's the first time in history that a pennant-winning team, as the Dodgers are almost certain to be this season, have gone out of their home town for any home games.

With Dodger attendance far off during the last two seasons, club President Walter O'Malley put the finger on the parking problem as the reason for the slump. Time was, O'Malley pointed out, folks in Brooklyn used to come to Ebbets Field by trolley — the team's present name was shortened from the nickname "Trolley Dodgers."

Now, fans want to come by car and there is parking space for only 700 cars at Ebbets Field.

Look For Stadium Site
If the Dodgers are going to stay in Brooklyn, says O'Malley, they must find a site for a new stadium which has parking facilities for at least 2,000 cars. They've been looking for such a site since 1948.

"The matter has progressed to the point where a final engineering and legal study will be made," said O'Malley. "The result will determine the future of the Dodgers."

O'Malley insisted that the Dodger owners intend to keep the team in Brooklyn if at all possible. But he left the door open for a shift by saying "other locations" would be considered "only if we are finally unsuccessful in our ambition to build in Brooklyn."

Other locations mentioned by O'Malley, in addition to Jersey City, which lies just across the Hudson River from New York City were two areas on Long Island.

O'Malley made it plain that Ebbets Field will cease to be the home of the Dodgers after 1957.

"We plan to play almost all our home games at Ebbets Field in 1956 and in 1957, but will have to have a new stadium thereafter," said O'Malley.

CHICAGO — P—Income taxpayers made mistakes in arithmetic totaling $95,749,000 in fiscal 1954, according to Commerce Clearing House.

The national reporting authority on tax and business law said the errors resulted in payments of $18,542,000 more than due, and the Internal Revenue Service refunded that amount.

But the service also caught mistakes by taxpayers in their favor totaling $77,207,000, and bills for payment were sent.

Many taxpayers made optimistic guesses on their estimated income, and sent in advance payments greater than their year-end returns showed they owed.

These miscalculations ran into the billions, CCH said.

The total collected was $69,919,991,000.

Guaranteed Pay Plan Offered By Harvester

CHICAGO (AP)—An International Harvester Co. offer of a "guaranteed annual wage" plan, a 10-cent hourly pay increase, and a union shop today led the CIO United Auto Workers to hope agreement on a new contract was near.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice-president in charge of negotiations, said the union is "encouraged by the over-all situation."

He said that while the proposed five-year contract was "not yet acceptable in its present form" negotiations will continue.

With similar progress "there is no reason why we can't complete the job by Aug. 23," he said.

The present contract expires at midnight on that date.

Harvester offered to contribute 5 cents an hour for each hour worked by an eligible employee to a trust fund which would be used to supplement state unemployment compensation payments during lay-offs.

A worker would get 65 per cent of his take-home pay for the first four weeks of a layoff and 60 per cent for the next 22 weeks.

The proposed contract also contained a provision for a 6-cent per hour "annual improvement factor" during the life of the contract.

Woodcock said further negotiations were needed to settle differences over seniority and grievance provisions and other technical problems.

3,000 Attend Grand Opening of Scherrer Company

An estimated 3,000 persons attended the grand opening of the Scherrer Equipment Company, International Harvester dealer, at Eldorado Saturday.

Gene Haile, coach at Eldorado high school, was the winner of the grand door prize, a $249.95 IHC home freezer. There were other door prizes awarded, with everyone visiting the equipment company being urged to register for the valuable awards.

George Scherrer, manager of the company, and co-owner with his brother John, stated the crowd exceeded their expectations. "The visitors began to arrive before 8:30 in the morning and continued until closing time at 5 p. m.," he stated.

George and John Scherrer and all members of their staff, plus five representatives of the International Harvester district offices in Evansville, were on hand to greet the visitors and answer all questions about the farm machinery and home electrical equipment.

The complete list of door prize winners:

- Freezer, Gene Haile, Eldorado.
- Freezer, Ann Easley, Carrierr Mills.
- Wheel bearing grease, Herbert Barger, Stonefort.
- Wheel bearing grease, Allie Gollner, Harrisburg, RFD 1.
- Wheel bearing grease, H. M. Green, Eldorado, RFD 2.
- Corn picker grease, Hobart Read, McLeansboro.
- Miniature plow, Robert Joe Pritchett, Galatia, RFD 2.
- Miniature disc harrow, Cecil Winters, Junction.
- Miniature manure spreader, Mrs. Edith Dunivan, Eldorado.
- Miniature manure spreader, Joe H. Delap, Norris City.

Hoover Brands Democratic Digest Attack as 'Smear'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ex-President Herbert Hoover has branded as an "infamous smear" an attack made by the Democratic Digest against the Hoover Commission on Government Organization.

The Digest is a magazine published by the Democratic National Committee.

In an unsigned article in its September issue, the magazine charged that the Hoover Commission was politically partisan, that Mr. Hoover "stacked" its subcommittees, or task forces, with "vested interests" and that President Eisenhower does not plan to carry out the commission's recommendations.

Mr. Hoover replied in a statement released here that the attack amounted to "an infamous smear" in the name of the Democratic National Committee "made by someone ignorant of the whole workings of the commission" bearing his name.

The ex-President said the commission was "never divided upon political grounds" and that every decision was by majority vote which included "some, if not all, of the five Democratic members."

South Koreans Stoned American Army Officer Today in New Outbreak of Violence Against Communist Troops Inspectors

A mob of about 300 stone-throwing demonstrators attempted to storm the causeway leading to tiny Wolmi Island in Inchon Harbor. They were driven back by U. S. troops with tear gas and streams of water from fire hoses.

One of the rocks hurled by the demonstrators struck 1st Lt. Wayne W. Hansen, 25, of Augusta, Ga., on the head. He was given emergency treatment in Inchon and then was rushed by an ambulance to a U. S. military hospital at Azcom City, 10 miles from Inchon.

The Wolmi disturbance was the first bloodshed reported in South Korea since President Syngman Rhee last Saturday ordered his people to avoid violence while demanding ouster of the Communist inspectors.

At Suwon, today, Rhee said the Republic of Korea will never betray the confidence of the United States.

Nehru Apologizes For Mob Attacks On Consulates

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru apologized today for Indian mob attacks against Portuguese consulates Tuesday and offered to pay compensation for the damages.

Mobs, protesting against the action of Portuguese troops in repelling a "peaceful invasion" of Goa by Indian nationalists, rioted by the tens of thousands and attacked the Portuguese consulate in Calcutta and Portuguese holdings in Bombay.

Nehru told parliament today India expressed its "deep regret and apology" for the attacks and said the behavior of the uncontrollable crowds should not have been directed toward the Portuguese foreign missions.

"We must respect the foreign missions," he said. "They should be protected. If we expect respect we must also behave likewise."

BOMBAY (AP)—Reports from the Goa border said today another 2,500 Indians were preparing to enter the Portuguese possession Thursday in another "peaceful invasion" despite the bloodshed of Monday.

He Didn't Even Have A Driving License

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—A baby was at the wheel of one of two automobiles involved in a collision.

It seems that Thomas Carney's two-year-old son had taken his dad's car keys from the kitchen table. The tot toddled out to the car, turned on the ignition and stepped on the starter, just as he'd seen his father do.

The car, left in reverse gear, backed out of the driveway and into a parked car.

The baby was unhurt.

Little Furs Are Important in Fashion

Little furs will occupy an important place in fashion this fall. We show three jackets by Leo Ritter, each an imaginative and individual design. Evening fur in jasmine white mink (left) has rolled collar and cuffs of dark ranch mink. Rarest fox in existence, the natural sunbeam, is used for cape jacket (center). Color is a beautifully shaded golden beige. Waist length jacket in emba lutetia mink mutation (right) has bloused back with boned button detail at the waistband. Wrap front has shawl collar and full push-up sleeves. Such little furs have blossomed into big business since they can be useful to almost every woman.

Hurricane Blows Out in North Carolina

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Hurricane Diane blew itself to pieces 60 miles inland from the North Carolina coast today, leaving a flooded town and considerable damage behind.

Danger from the hurricane had barely subsided before Miami's hurricane-hunting Weather Bureau began following the course of still another weather disturbance in the Atlantic.

What was described as a "moderate easterly wave" developed in the ocean about 1,500 miles east of San Juan, P. R. It was far at sea and so far it was only a band of showers. Such waves often spawn full blown hurricanes but just as often, said the weathermen, they dissipate into rain and no wind. They must take on a closed circular movement before developing hurricane strength.

Diane caused little wind damage but considerable by the water route. The winds pushed flood waters over historic Washington, N. C., a Pallico River city and forced hundreds to flee to high ground.

The Washington flood occurred when the high tide was trapped in the river by the winds of Diane and could not return to the ocean.

"We've got more water than we've ever seen here," Lt. Shepherd Grist, a National Guard commander said. "There's six feet of water outside the armory."

This afternoon however, Col. James R. Smith, state highway patrol commander, said everything at Washington "was under control" and there was no loss of life. Amphibious ducks from Camp Lejeune Marine Base were rushed there with highway patrol escort to aid in the evacuation.

The World Series of baseball was played for five of nine games in 1903 and again from 1919 through 1921.

Woman Quits Refugee Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy D. Houghton, Red Oak, Iowa, has resigned her post as deputy director of the International Cooperation Administration for Refugee Affairs effective Sept. 1, the ICA announced today.

Mrs. Houghton, who was appointed to the post in April, 1953, is leaving the job to devote more time to her family and personal affairs in Iowa. She will continue to work with refugee and voluntary agency affairs, however. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced that Mrs. Houghton has been appointed a member of the public advisory group of the refugee relief program. He said the State Department "is fortunate" that her experience still will be available to the refugee relief program.

Greek Shipping Magnate Settles U. S. Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos has agreed to build two 10-million-dollar tankers for America's Merchant Marine as part of a deal to settle a long-standing government suit.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. announced today that Niarchos, who headquarters in New York, has agreed also to pay the government $4,079,500 cash. The government sued Niarchos and his North American Shipping & Trading Co. in 1953. It charged that the Greek shipper had illegally bought and operated surplus U. S. ships which were supposed to go only to American citizens. Niarchos is a Greek citizen.

Sign Painter Gets Mixed Up

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A mixed-up sign painter created quite a stir at the Illinois State Fair Tuesday.

His sign over a milking machine exhibit explained that the machine transferred the milk "from can to cow." An embarrassed exhibitor withdrew the sign and had it changed.

BACK TO SCHOOL TIME:

Harrisburg Stores Feature Schooltime Values For All Budget-Minded Shoppers

Yes, that time is here again! At the sound of the school bell, it will be "Goodbye vacation . . . hello, teachers!" for students everywhere, and Harrisburg merchants have prepared a host of back-to-school bargains for thrifty shoppers.

From grade-schoolers to college seniors, returning to learning will be a lot easier (even fun!) when preparations for the new school term are made well in advance. When wardrobes are properly rounded out, when all necessary supplies and gear (from book bags to bikes) are on hand and ready to go when the "great day" dawns. And that's why your favorite Harrisburg stores have banded together for this great townwide "Back-to-School" event.

Smart parents and their children will do their back-to-school shopping early . . . avoid the last-minute rush . . . choose wisely and well from peaked selections at their Harrisburg stores . . . and get off to a good start for the new school year! Harrisburg merchants are reminding shoppers that downtown retail stores are open every Thursday night until 8:00 p. m. for the convenience of those who are unable to shop downtown during the day.

It's townwide events like this one that have made Harrisburg the shopping center of southeastern Illinois.

Children Step Out in Shoes Like Mom, Dad

New designs, new colors, new leathers will give windows of children's shoe shops a festive air this fall.

The revolution in children's shoes over the past few years has been dictated by the youngsters themselves. Boys and girls from the age of five up insist on shoes with style and fashion interest—the laced oxford is still with us, but seems to be fighting a rough battle.

Here is a brief rundown on what you can expect to find in your favorite shoe shop when you go to buy back-to-school shoes:

Little girls' leather pumps are available in almost every color you can think of, in smooth and suede leathers, and some reptiles, too. Throatline variations on the pumps include the peaked, deep-V, squared, pinked and scalloped. You will find these in both single and double-strap shoes. For the girl who is a little older there are even T-strap versions, just like mother's. Black and blue suede dress shoes have gay touches in the form of kid bows, pearl trim, nailheads and underlays and overlays of smooth leather.

Boys are taking over Daddy's current favorite, the two-eyelet leather shoe in moccasin, wingtip and plain-toed blucher styles. The two-eyelet style is particularly popular with the boys because it makes getting in and out of the shoes so much easier.

Which also explains the popularity of the gored shoe—these are the shoes that have no laces at all, but are elasticized at the sides of the vamp to keep the shoe from slipping off. The black leather tassell moccasin is a third popular member of the easy-in-easy-out category.

Soft glove leathers and shag-buck leathers (which have a suede finish), and crushed grains are found in shoes of soft-flexible construction for both boys and girls—a far cry from the rigid shoe of yesteryear. Development in the past year or so of leathers which are rugged and wear-resistant, but still soft and very supple, is responsible for this trend.

The teenage girl has special demands and the shoe and leather manufacturers have taken pains to satisfy them. Chief among them are dress shoes which are versatile and not too extremely styled, so that they can be worn with a variety of costumes. For school you will find a staggering variety of leather flats and low heels, which look well with socks, as well as nylons. A particular boon for teens are the new leather pumps with mid-heels so artfully designed that they look like high heels, but don't require precarious balancing.

Schools to Open On September 1

County Superintendent of Schools Raymond Gardner has announced that all schools in Saline county will start the same day, Thursday, Sept. 1.

A teachers' meeting for rural teachers only will be held at 9 a. m. Wednesday at the Harrisburg high school auditorium, Mr. Gardner announced. At this meeting necessary information will be given the teachers and supplies will be handed out.

No change in textbooks are contemplated for this year, Mr. Gardner states.

SGT. RICHARD L. LARGEN, 416 West Poplar, is now attending the Infantry Communications school at Fort Benning, Ga. The course is continuous for 13 weeks and upon completion he will return to his unit, Co. C, of the 503rd Airborne Infantry regiment at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Rev. Charles Scott New Pastor of Church Of Nazarene

Rev. Charles Scott is the new pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, replacing Rev. Robert Winegarden, who has entered the evangelistic field and has moved to his home at Danville.

Rev. Scott and his wife, Dorothy, and two children, Jimmy, 3, and Stevie, 2, moved to this city last week. He came to the church here from Royallton where he was pastor following his graduation from Nazarene Seminary in 1954. He also graduated from Olivet college in 1950.

ever, this will not be true in a year or two.

Small schools with a limited number of spaces face an admissions crisis. Schools in the engineering and medical fields, and other specialized faculties, are currently in demand.

An interrupted education has proven not to be a good thing, according to Prof. Paul Bulger, provost of Columbia University's Teachers College, because many do not resume their educations where they left off. Thus the present high draft age is adding to the pressure on the nation's institutions of higher learning.

Parents Must Share Job with Teachers In Educating American Children

According to leading educators, school can do only a half-way job of educating American children if they come home to a family that doesn't care.

In the words of one teacher's teacher:

"Education is an all-round business. It doesn't stop when the school bell rings in the afternoon. It's got to be helped by enlightened parents who believe that their children should know what the world is about and how to live in it."

It would follow, he said, that parents need some education — the kind they can get from junior.

This educator puts it in the form of questions to parents:

1. Are they interested in the child's reactions to his studies, teachers, classmates?
2. Do they encourage the child to investigate activities and studies in which he seems particularly interested?
3. Do they attend parent-teacher meetings? Do they come to school on visiting days?
4. Do they set up a place for CARRYING ACTIVITIES OVER from school to home and enjoying school-inspired projects is an important part of modern education. A student needs indestructible furniture and an inviolable corner for his messier projects that may last for days.

the child to study and pursue his at-home activities?

The books: a good, large-type dictionary that is easy to read; a book of familiar quotations and their sources; and a Holy Bible.

As the child is graduated from grade to grade, other standard works can be included: a set of the plays of Shakespeare; books by familiar authors of both America and the rest of the world; perhaps an encyclopedia.

There are other ways in which the family carries on the work of education.

Junior can be encouraged to save articles that interest him and build up a background in many areas if he has a scrap book. Items that need immediate attention can be affixed to a bulletin board. You can hang up a sheet of composition tile or peg board on his wall or in the corner that is his.

Most important to giving him encouragement is work space that is large enough and sturdy enough to take everything from stamp collecting to model building and hammering.

Daystrom, for example, makes a table with a smooth top that will resist everything but atomic radiation. Such a table, along with shelves and good lighting, can be set up anywhere in the house for junior's special use. It will be his study corner, will have his reference books and will store the projects on which he is working or has abandoned until a later date.

Parents-- Brush Up On Schools

Public school vs. Private — Which one can do the most to further your child's education?

The question is old and tough, but it's one which thousands of parents sooner or later must answer.

Public school backers argue that the school which is open to all helps to develop tolerance, and a well-rounded personality.

Private schools claim, in reply, that having the child live "away" helps to teach self-reli-

SMART and warm. Waist and neck are hugged tightly to keep cold out, warmth in. By Sport Chief.

The best way to settle the question is to visit the schools yourself—the public as well as the private. Before making any decision, talk to some of the teachers. Sit in one of the classes. Talk with the child himself.

And, above all, consult with your handbook. Having the child enrolled in a school you cannot afford may mean that, when some emergency comes, he will only have to drop out.

Waste Lives Are Reclaimed

A vast world of greater usefulness is opening up to the more than four million handicapped children of our land. A new concept in the education of the handicapped is responsible for this.

As facilities become available across our land to handle this great number of children needing extra attention in the schools, the field of opportunity is widening. Only those occupations which absolutely require the use of the missing faculty are barred to these future jobholders.

It is hard for most people to believe that perhaps 10 per cent of the children in our land have some sort of handicap. These range from the worst types of cerebral palsy to diabetes, cardiacs, etc. The most noticeable of these groups are the blind, deaf and mute, amputees, and other obviously hampered persons.

All of these handicapped children need special attention in the schools, when they can go to school, and an increasing number of them are receiving this attention.

The delay of progress in this field is largely due to expense. These children need special equipment, special attention, and specially-trained teachers. Many need teachers who can come into the home.

Some teachers colleges are offering programs especially designed for those who will teach the handicapped. Teachers College at Columbia University, in New York City, for example, offers from 40 to 50 such courses and has an enrollment of some 200 entrainees in their program for the handicapped.

The work with these children in our schools and elsewhere is being forwarded by such organizations as the American Foundation for the Blind, the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the United Cerebral Palsy Association, etc.

Those interested may obtain information for their children, in most cases, through their state department of education or through their local board of education.

Standard Hue Of Wardrobes For All Ages

And then there was the clothing salesman who was so worried that he turned charcoal-gray overnight.

Worried or not, American males from kindergarten to retirement age are turning to charcoal colors this year. The color that once was reserved for the college set and the investment men is becoming a standard hue in most wardrobes. And more, it is appearing on the grade-school level as well.

More than color, trimly cut clothes are making inroads into the once-sloppy grade and high school fashions.

Designers of boys' clothes have made great use of richly colored, interesting textured all-wool fabrics. Simplified "swagger" lines give fall school and dress-up clothes their new appeal.

Boys' wear designers favor wool tweeds for outercoats and sport coats because of their excellent warmth and wear qualities and rich new colorings. The new favorite among outercoats is the short coat and rugged, nubby tweeds.

In contrast to the dark colors of fall suits, medium value colors are the leaders in both the short and longer coats.

Small two-color weave patterns with random nubs in contrasting colors are typical.

To illustrate: gray and white weaved outercoating in a pattern of small squares will be enlivened with scattered nubs of ginger, brown and black.

Topcoats and overcoats fall into two classes: the more formal box cut and the casual bal collar, raglan sleeve model. The raglan sleeve model has the vote of most high school and college men, although the box cut coat has strong support in the eastern states.

The formality of the modified Chesterfield, with its square cut, fly closing and velvet collar appeals to boys of many age levels as well as to their fathers. More formal herringbone tweeds, in combinations of brown with tan and gray with black, are preferred for the box cut coats, while nubby tweeds are preferred in the raglan models.

Boys and parents alike should note the charcoal brown and charcoal blue flannel suits when shopping for school. These suit fabrics have two colors closely blended—charcoal with brown and charcoal with navy blue. These have the rich formality of the charcoal gray flannels with an added touch of interest.

Durable worsted wool gabardine, one of the best tailoring suit fabrics, has come back to favor for college men in an unusual new color: burnt grass.

The shade is darker than olive green, but the two look alike. It was introduced for spring in men's tropical worsted suits and in a 10-ounce year-round weight of worsted gabardine. It is now destined for a bow on the campuses from grade school to college.

A similar color, khaki, will make its appearance in worsted wool suits and wool sport coats on the campus, come October. Khaki makes a handsome appearance in narrow stripes on charcoal gray worsted suitings.

The piped wool flannel blazer is due for a revival on college campuses this fall, too. Reminiscent of the era of "23-skidoo," racoon coats and the Bunny Hug, the blazer indicates in the college man's interest in being a distinctive type again.

Ephraim Witty, of the famous Witty Brothers clothing stores, puts it this way:

"College clothes are more than a style. They are a way of life." Witty has put out a sports car blazer to try for the non-campus market. With muted-stripe combinations, the blazer can carry the insignia of all international sports car manufacturers. Or, if you don't have a sports car, you can have your own initials put on.

Still a big favorite on the grade-school and high-school fashion list is corduroy.

You'll see more coordinates of corduroy this year—jacket and slacks combinations designed to wear long and well.

In outer clothes—raincoats and school jackets—synthetics are rising to meet the demand of washable, durable, weather resistance.

DuPont's "Zelan" for example, shows to its best advantage in rain wear that looks for all the world like something from a newsman-solves-the-mystery movie. It's highly practical, too.

The old standby, rayon, continues strong, especially in sport shirts. Wilson Brothers has carried the style into impressive color combinations with long sleeves and collar stays. Washable, rayon is a hardy perennial.

One word for school shirts: important. Make sure, Van Heusen shirt designers say, to get the collar size large enough and the sleeve length long enough—but not too long. This is the piece of apparel that can cause junior most discomfort if it doesn't fit. Constriction at the neck or sleeves that fall into the inkwell or choke his wrists.

Extra attractions—and good training for young gentlemen—are this year's bathrobes. Tartans are still a favorite. Rabhor has one with deep pockets and shawl collar. Beautiful and alluring enough to inspire young Lochinvar to come to the breakfast table spic and span.

BED-BOARD NEEDED

Schools do supply beds, yes; but sometimes their quality is questionable for anyone who has back trouble or trouble sleeping on a sagging mattress. A bed board makes a good investment here.

Eldorado High To Begin Sept. 1; 5 New Teachers

The Eldorado Township high school will start the 1955-56 school year Sept. 1 and there will be a faculty meeting the previous day, Wednesday, Aug. 31, starting at 1 p. m. Principal W. A. Knoop has announced.

There are five new teachers on the EHS faculty — Earl Vogel-pugh, music; Mrs. Dorothy Pemberton, English and social science; Robin Ledbetter, mathematics, science and guidance director; Mrs. Mary O'Brien, biology and general science; Mrs. Betty Mitchell, English and girls physical education.

Mr. Knoop stated that any student who has not registered for the school term may report to the high school office and arrange a class schedule any time during the remainder of this month.

It also was announced that freshmen who have not received their health cards may secure them at the high school office. Health examinations for all freshmen should be completed before the opening day of school.

There have been no major remodeling or improvements at the EHS this summer, but workmen have been busy with a painting and general clean up program and the buildings are all ready for the opening day.

Annual Chest X-Rays for Teachers, School Employees, Required Under New Law

Teachers and other school employees will be required by law to have an annual chest X-ray as a precautionary measure against the spread of tuberculosis in Illinois schools under the provisions of a bill recently passed by the Illinois Legislature, and approved by Gov. William G. Stratton.

The measure will affect all school staff members employed in any capacity which brings them into direct contact with elementary and high school, college and university students. This includes teachers, superintendents, principals, directors, food servers, janitors, school bus drivers, nurses, doctors, others.

Effective January 1, 1956, the bill prohibits the employment in schools of persons suffering from tuberculosis in a communicable form and requires that certificates of physical fitness or X-ray results be submitted upon their employment. Subsequent check-ups will be required every two years.

A joint resolution passed by the legislature stresses the need for all Illinois residents to have a chest X-ray every year and urges that everyone take advantage of the free mobile unit service. Tuberculosis is far from being a disease of the past, as indicated by the 5,757 new cases and 1,662 deaths reported for Illinois in 1954. The first total marks an increase over that for 1953, when 4,476 new cases were recorded.

Both measures were endorsed by the Illinois Tuberculosis association and the Saline County Tuberculosis association, one of its 100 affiliated county organizations, as well as the Illinois Trudeau Society, composed of physicians throughout the state with a special interest in tuberculosis control.

New Pupils, First,
Fifth Graders to Register Aug. 23-25

New pupils coming into the Harrisburg public schools, together with the children entering the first and fifth grades on Sept. 1, will have an opportunity to register at Junior high school in the nurse's office, between Church and South on Webster street, August 23, 24, and 25. Hours 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Parents are reminded that medical and dental examinations are required by law for children entering the first and fifth grades. Ninth grade students are also required to have medical and dental examinations.

Local doctors have been supplied with examination forms and are prepared to examine the children who have not had their examinations earlier in the summer. Forms after being filled in by the family doctor and dentist should be taken at the time of registration by the parent to the school nurse. It is good for the parent to have his child or children with him at the time of registration conference.

BOX OF PROTECTION
A good investment for a kid away at school is a large, inexpensive trunk, foot locker or wooden packing box. Sheets, bedspreads, curtains and rugs that won't be needed until fall semester can be left stored at the school during the summer in such a container.

School Time Dress-Up Time

Fashions in Wool, Bermuda Shorts, Jersey Blouse Highlights in New Styles

Nothing revives the interest of young ladies in clothes like the return to school. Gals who have been slopping around in blue jeans all summer suddenly develop an urge to spend money. Girls who abhor clothes generally start pestering mother for a couple of new dresses.

This return of interest stimulates designers. Never are clothes more unusual and attractive than they are on the racks in the late summer and early fall.

Wool, as always, has a high place in school fashions. Hand-knitted sweaters and blouses from English and Scottish fabric mills, many of them authentic clan tartans, being made up in youthful and durable styles. In an investment like a winter coat, durability of style is important, for it may have to do for several winters.

Bermuda shorts and knee-length skirts are popular again this year. These trim sporty styles are far neater than haphazard casual wear, but don't go into the domain of the impractical.

A suggestion to go with the Bermuda circular skirts are seamless knee-length nylon stockings such as those by Hanes.

Wool appears in slimmer lines—doubtless the influence of Paris' softened look. Fullness, where it's present, starts at the hips for a long-torso look.

Despite all the interest in dresses, knee pants and jumpers, the sweater and skirt is ever present. They've been modified—pared down in width and extended to a longer line. The look is slim rather than boxy.

The sweater's second cousin, the wool jersey blouse, appears with slim shoulders and long sleeves that taper inward to the wrist. Armholes are set in close to permit wearing with jumpers.

Cotton has come of age and now appears as a real element on the winter scene, a turnabout, no doubt, to wool's invasion of the summer fashion world. Cotton is easy for the home sewer to manipulate and is the original washable fabric. Many mothers of youngsters keep their kids in it a large percentage of the time. Cotton packaging in the 100-pound size provides one and a third yards of colorfast fabric. Many women have utilized this home aid for clothes. In the higher styles, pedal pushers and a surplus blouse can be carved out of a couple of these bags.

HE'S DEFINITELY hers, but subtly. She's made co-ordinated felt items for them. She wears a full skirt with a big diamond pattern, he wears the reverse in his vest with small diamonds. Both are done hemless, in school colors.

A sensible homemade dress is suggested by the Pfaff Sewing Institute, the "grow dress" for young girls. It's a jumper with a wide elasticized waistband and a deep hem. It's the same front and back for easy morning dressing.

For teenagers who sew for themselves, the Singer people suggest ally found soon. It may mean the death of the clothing brush. Another kind of processing is DuPont's Zelan, which builds washability into tough outdoor clothes. Raincoats, snowsuits, jackets and toppers come with this process and can prevent those constantly-black knees on snowsuits and pants.

Shopping for school clothes is a very special kind of shopping. Shopping for youngsters means searching for deep hems, sturdy seams and non-spot-showing fabrics.

For the teens, it means what everyone else is wearing. If a mother buys something because she likes it, she needn't expect Sis to wear it unless her pals do.

For college gals, it means wise investing. Many of her college years purchases will have to do service after graduation. Things that mix and match, timeless cuts, dresses that can be revamped into skirts, formal that can be cut off and coats that will go over a variety of garments are important.

Highway Hypnosis Is Driving Peril

The Automobile Club of America has issued the following warning to students planning to drive back to college next month: "Watch out for 'highway hypnosis' if you want to arrive safely."

Though chiefly a nighttime hazard resulting from constant staring at approaching headlights, "hypnosis" also occurs in daylight hours, especially on modern turnpikes which stretch out in monotonous mile-after-mile concrete ribbons.

The effective antidote: pull off the road every two or three hours for a cup of coffee, walk around a bit, take a few deep breaths.

TOOTHPICK-SKINNY jumper in charcoal wool flannel can go formal, blouseless, or with blouse.

hemless felt co-ordinates for gal and steady. One of their ideas is a subtle coordination of a diamond-appliqued skirt with a diamond-appliqued vest, in reverse colors. When they're together, it's obvious they match. When apart, who knows?

Rayon moves into school wear this fall. For the very young young lady, Tiny Town uses Avisco Rayon for a woven plaid dress that's part as a hair ribbon. For little boys, Chips and Twigs uses it with acetate for a man-tailored suit.

Processing is a big element for school-agers because of their love for dirt and soil. A new static-proof dry-cleaning process will make clothes unclinging and less deviously attractive to little flecks of lint. This development, still pretty secret, is available to certified dry-cleaners and should be gener-

TEACH TRAVEL FACTS

Does your youngster, just departing for college, know what to do if set down in a strange city? No need to humiliate him with mother-henning, but be sure he knows about wiring for money, traveller's aid, the Y or friends in the city.

VARIETY'S THE SPICE

Sandwiches can be nutritious, filling fare for a carried school lunch. But as a steady diet, they can bore a child. Try eat-out-of-hand foods like a piece of chicken or turkey. Try chili or beans in a wide-mouthed vacuum bottle. Do break up the monotony.

Schools Show Improvement --Slowly But Steadily

Miss Primrose, average American teacher, is braced for her annual autumnal shock. She is about to walk into her average classroom at Middletown Grade School and assume charge of her 30 students—part of the nation's grade and high school population of 36 million.

In all of her 45 years, she hasn't seen such a crowded school. Ever since her school district abolished one-room schools in favor of the larger consolidated variety, she hasn't seen such a crowd.

Her room is Number Six in a row of 10 crowded rooms. She will teach from the same blackboard using the same worn erasers she has used for years. She wishes she had more modern study aids, but her school district just can't afford them on the present education appropriations.

Her school could use more space. It could use more teachers. She could use a higher salary than her yearly $3816. There is a need for equipment. She would like to see her children have psychological guidance and medical care over and above what she can give them in the classroom.

She sighs and thinks of the bright ray in the bleak picture. She is grateful for the increasing interest of the parents in the school. She is grateful for the larger crowds at the PTA meetings and for the many eager mothers and fathers who frequently consult with her.

As she enters her room and greets the new crop of students for the first time, her practiced eye runs across the class.

The wide-eyed girls are sitting there, neatly dressed in their wool

And she is grateful for the well-marked white-lined crosswalks, polished by student monitors, that make it safe for her children to cross the streets. The well-policed playground with its safeguards for happy recreational hours are a step beyond the days of too many skinned knees and bleeding head gashes.

But, when something goes wrong, she knows that there is first aid equipment available. She only wishes that her school had a dispensary with a trained nurse like some of the larger buildings. She hopes that her health- and safety-minded community will provide for this one day soon.

Miss Primrose looks down at her somewhat battered desk and sees the notation that a speaker from the library will deliver her first talk of the semester on Wednesday. The increased emphasis by the community on culture, both in the school and out, makes her think of the days not so long ago when there wasn't much such opportunity available.

Every aspect of the students' life, both in their homes and at school, interests her. She knows that it all fits into a pattern that makes for a better student and a well-adjusted young person.

Fine food, clean and comfortable clothes, adequate medical care, proper safety measures, and proper home study aids all fit together to make it easier for her to mold these children into successful, happy young men and women. When the child comes from a well-adjusted, orderly home, Miss

Primrose knows that it is much easier for him to learn how to get on in today's world of complex relationships.

As she raps on her desk to bring order for the first time during the new semester, Miss Primrose once more sounds the signal of "Back to School."

The American housewife with a refrigerator opens it an average of 62 times a day.

Winning Pupils Enjoy Hobbies

Getting your youngster to take up a hobby can be an important step in helping to better his school work.

Several outstanding new hobby kits are designed, in fact, for just this purpose. In addition to giving pleasure, they can add to the youngster's knowledge and stimulate interest in new careers.

One new line, for instance, endorsed by leading educators, is made up of five basic "science" kits: weather forecasting, optics and light rays, electronics and radio, the study of rocks and minerals, and a simple medical kit.

Included are accurate instruments and books which explain in simple terms how the equipment is used.

The old standbys, of course, such as stamp collecting and photography, have a high educational value which has proven itself for years. And a child who is started young may stick with them throughout life.

Hobby shops employ experts to advise you of tested ways for getting the children interested—and, more important than that, the ways which are most economical. To avoid going off half-cocked, it's wise to at least consult them.

GO ON RECORD WITH FILE
If Junior or Sis is a mad record collector, he or she probably can't stand the idea of even a week's vacation away from the favorites. Don't pack the records in suitcases. Get him a portable file with a handle which can be carried on the train.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
A wide-mouthed vacuum bottle can be a great aid in the mother-made school lunch program. Any spoon food can be kept hot in it.

Improvements At Carrier Mills Grade School

An extensive repair and remodeling program at the Carrier Mills grade school building is nearing completion and everything will be ready for the opening of the 1955-56 school term, Principal Delbert Waller has announced.

Remodeling of the building includes construction of a secretary's office, teachers' work room in the basement, first aid room on the main floor, art room and an additional class room.

Other improvements are the installation of three water bubblers in the play ground area; two water fountains in the gymnasium and another in the lobby of the gym; doubling the amount of play ground equipment by moving the equipment from the Dunbar school, now closed, to the Central school playground; electric hot water tanks so hot water will be available at all times and not just when the furnace is operating, as in the past; an automatic washer so that gymnasium and other school equipment can be kept in usable condition at all times, and complete redecoration of the gym.

This year an additional class room was necessary as there will be another fourth grade room, making two rooms of each grade from kindergarten through the sixth grade.

New York, Chicago, and Detroit, rank in that order among American cities in total factory payrolls.

Who Rides With Wyatt

by Will Henry

Distributed by MEA. Copyright 1954, 1955 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with Random House, Inc.

THE STORY: Johnny, a gun-swift kid, was saved from death by Wyatt Earp in San Angelo, but he has much to learn. One thing being that Wyatt is a man to be feared if you're on the wrong side of the fence between right and wrong. As they head out of Texas toward Arizona, Johnny shortens his last name Ringgold to "Ringo."

IV
THE raw kid he'd chaperoned out of San Angelo and renamed Johnny Ringo was, without any solitary exception Wyatt could remember, the fastest natural and dead-center shot he had ever seen. More than that, his bad temper and thin pride put him in a bad-tough class.

There were two main breeds of dangerous gunmen, the man-grown professionals like Wyatt himself and like his old friends Luke Short and Bat Masterson, and then the amateurs, the crazy, hot-headed, cold-jawed kids. These last were the ones like young Wes Hardin and Clay Allison, wild no-good kids who bucked a gun out just for hearing it go off and seeing a man go down. Who, once they'd killed their first man, found the rest to come as easy as pigeons at a county-fair trapshoot.

Wyatt figured he already knew where this Ringo kid fitted. He was a simon-pure bad one, as young and crazy as they came. Unless he got the right education, and got it quick, he wasn't going to have to worry about growing up. The 23rd day on the trail brought them at last across the Pima County line and down onto Tucson.

Wyatt left Johnny in the first saloon they hit, knowing he'd be back before the kid could get oiled up to the trouble mark. Wyatt himself never touched the stuff—he was past 40 before he took more than a social beer.

Down the street, he found the county jailhouse. He legged wear-ily down off of Big Red, eased in through the open door, and casually introduced himself to Sheriff Charles Shibell.

Shibell was too big in the belly and small in the eye to suit Wyatt. But he clapped the big Dodge gunman on the back friendly enough, offered him a good Habana cheroot.

"Glad you could come, Earp. You was that long about it I thought maybe you hadn't got my letter."

Wyatt patted his vest pocket. "I got it all right. Must be a pretty ring-tailed police job to pay what you say it will."

"The deal," said the little sheriff, "is cut and dried. Providing you're man enough to slice it and string it up to cure."

Wyatt took his time lighting up his cheroot. When he'd got a half-inch of hot ash growing on it, he held it up and looked at it, absentlike. "Burns even, leaves a tight ash. Now, if you don't want it stumped out in your mustache, Mr. Shibell, you'd best leave off riddling me."

Shibell laughed a little too loud and quick.

"Got a sense of humor, eh Earp? That's good. Come in handy where you're bound for."

"Which might be where?" growled Wyatt.

"Tombstone!" rasped Shibell.

"What's there?"

"Trouble," frowned Shibell, "and 12 months of back taxes."

"What you need isn't a deputy, Mr. Shibell. It's a tax collector. In the future, you got a job for a boy, don't send for a man."

Shibell quit winking and grinning, got right down to bedrock.

"I'd hate to be the 'boy' that tried riding the county tax route down to Tombstone. When they got all through making tough towns they threw away the mold and poured what was left of the mix out into the sagebrush down yonder on Goose Flats. What cooled out was Tombstone."

"Tell me more, Mr. Shibell. Could be, I've touched you with the wrong spur."

"First off," said Shibell, "from all I hear, you're square. You take your job serious and a badge means something to you."

"If I wanted to be crooked, I'd be rich by now. When I pin a star on, I pin it proper. It don't come loose and stays on straight."

"Nobody's asking you to be crooked!" Shibell gestured testily.

"Ease off, Earp. You're the man for the job, or I wouldn't have sent for you. Now set still and listen."

SHIBELL made it short. Not a nickel in taxes had come out of it since Schieffelin struck the first ledge, and for a simple reason. No local deputy was tired enough of pulling good Arizona air into his lungs to go down into the San Pedro. Tombstone was the third biggest town in the territory and no representative of the duly elected law enforcement offices of Pima County had ever set foot in it. Its 4,000 legitimate citizens were beginning to squawk loud enough to be heard in Prescott. Next thing the territorial legislature would poke around in Pima County like to wind up on Sheriff Charley Shibell's trail.

If Shibell could get a good man down there to start pulling in those back taxes, which same money—politics being no different in Arizona Territory than any place else—would go a long ways toward plugging up the nostrils of the boys from Prescott.

When he finished he sat back to look at Wyatt. Take it or leave it. But if you took it you knew where you would stand, some west of that north-south line fence of the law that you'd long ago built down the middle of your own mind.

"What's the badge rate?" Wyatt asked slowly.

"First Deputy, Pima County, District of Tombstone."

"Pin it on," said Wyatt Earp. "Tombstone's got a tax collector."
